Chapter: Pronouns

A pronoun is a part of speech that is used in place of nouns. While writing or reading a sentence if we repeat the nouns, that doesn't sound good. Thus, pronouns are used to maintain the meaning and utility of the sentence.

- Pronouns are of two types- Singular pronouns and Plural pronouns.
- Singular pronouns like he, she, I, me, it are used in place of singular nouns like Rahul, Solanki, Table, Dog etc.
- Note that he is used for boys or males. She is used for girls or females and it is used for animals and non-living things.
- Plural pronouns like they, we, us, are used in place of plural nouns like- Sima and Riya, Students etc.
- Also note that you is the pronoun that is used for both singular and plural nouns.

Q1. Rewrite the sentences using the correct pronouns from the given options.

he she it they

a. Brownie is my pet.

Ans. It is my pet. (Brownie is an animal. Thus 'it' is used in place of 'Brownie').

b. Mani is my brother.

Ans. He is my brother. (Mani is a boy. Thus the pronoun 'he' is used in place of 'Mani')

c. Raj and David are coming home.

Ans. They are coming home. (Raj and David are plural nouns. Thus 'they' is used in place of 'Raj' and 'David').

d. Priya is reading.

Ans. She is reading. (Priya is a girl. Thus 'she' is used in place of 'Priya').
